Project Overview

This project was done to make sure I remember all my work. This is what I'm currently working on. Doing project portfolios of everything takes a while and I consider it a solid project to make a working and solid system to do all of this effectively. Also on top of that this is a good time to get my organization better and test the different assets while reflecting.

Why?

This was done because if I ever wanted to get into a very solid school I would most likely need to have portfolios of the projects I have done. Showing my dedication and my tenacity towards science.

how

This was done by using a basic template and then modifying it to fit my needs. It would take a tiny bit of work but although that took a while the project and actual recording with photo proof would take a lot longer I found out.

conclusion

As I write this the project is currently going pretty successfully and although tiring I have done a lot of good work and will continue to do some good work until it is finished.
